Ike's Foreign Aid Program Sliced Again

WASHINGTON (UP)—The congressional economy drive got a new lift today from the House Foreign Affairs Committee's decision to cut 400 million dollars more from President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

The group took the action Friday despite Eisenhower's repeated warnings that the program he requested was vital to U.S. security and to the freedom of this country's allies.

The committee also voted to limit to one year a proposed new aid fund for loans to underdeveloped nations.

The group approved 500 million dollars for the fund to make so-called soft loans to countries which can't borrow the money from existing international banks.

But it turned down Eisenhower's request to make it a three-year program. Some State Department officials complained the action would jeopardize the entire aid program to underdeveloped countries.

The House group voted to provide $1,500,000,000 in military aid—400 million dollars less than the administration had requested. The committee authorized 700 million dollars for defense support items which was 200 million dollars less than what the President wanted.

The overall cut of 600 million dollars was 400 million more than the Senate already had made in the program.

Other congressional news: FBI: Supporters of the bill to limit the right of access to FBI files planned quick action on the measure. They hoped to get the bill out of the way before the prolonged fight expected when the civil rights bill comes up July 8.

TVA: Senators from the Tennessee Valley Authority area want to know more about President Eisenhower's choice for a TVA Board of directors before commenting on him. The White House announced Friday Eisenhower has selected Deputy Budget Director Arnold R. Jones for the post. Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) said he did not know Jones but was "sure the President had good reasons" for picking him.

Soil Bank: A House-Senate conference committee reportedly plans to ask Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson to impose new restrictions on the 1958 soil bank acreage reserve program. Informed sources said the committee wants Benson to bar farmers from increasing acreage of uncultivated crops like soybeans if part of their land is registered with the soil bank. Benson earlier had said he was giving "serious consideration" to such a plan.

Good Evening!

S.O. Battling For G.G.

Tricky Audrey.

Until almost noon yesterday it seemed as if the first hurricane hadn't claimed too many lives. Then the desolated town of Cameron was discovered and the news wires began to crackle.

The small Cajun town had been hit by a nine-foot wall of water spawned by Audrey and it completely wrecked the place. Some 150 of the dead are from Cameron alone. In some places entire families are dead.

Now comes the heart-breaking job of cleaning up. The Red Cross is—as usual—on the job. This has been a year of emergencies for that group and its resources have been strained to the breaking point.

Bucks County got a little rain last night but more is needed. Lawns and crops all crying for a good soaking.

That cool breeze blowing in the area makes it feel like air conditioning has moved outdoors.

And one more quick point to the Giants before the original owner of this space returns. The New Yorkers are still moving up and there's no doubt they will soon be passing the Philadelphia Phil's "all-pitch no-hit" team.

A six-way race will make those turnstiles ring. And there's still a long time to go. Anything can happen—and will.

A critic complains of a shortage of top-notch actors. Oh, come now, doesn't he watch the TV fights.

Baby sitters are expected by parents to have reasonable rates for unreasonable children.

Go to church.

Splintered wood was all that remained of many homes that line the waterfront of Cameron, La., after the fishing village was hit by Hurricane Audrey.

2 Sentenced In Theft Of Auto Radios

Two men involved in the theft of automobile radios from Reedman Motors, Route 1, Middletown, were sentenced in Bucks County Court yesterday.

Both pleaded guilty before Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite. Carl A. Dietrich, 9 Queensbridge Road, Quincey Hollow, Levittown, who admitted the actual theft of the six radios, was fined $200, placed on one year's probation, ordered to reimburse the auto agency and pay court costs of $229.

Leon Marek, Oxford Valley Road, Fairless Hills, sentenced on a charge of receiving stolen goods, was fined $50, ordered to pay court costs of $202, placed on one year's probation and told to restore the value of the radios to Reedman.

A third man, William I. Brown, Main St., Hulmeville, is scheduled to stand trial for receiving stolen goods (the allegedly sold) (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

Winds Unseat Steeplejack

WASHINGTON (UP)—A 66-year-old steeplejack dangled head-down from a smokestack for 90 minutes Friday when strong winds flipped him over and fouled his rigging.

He came down from the 80-foot smokestack "cussing up a breeze" because rescuing firemen cut his ropes.

"Now I can't go back to work until tomorrow," said painter Mike Brummett.

Planes Demolished In Freak Ramming

MIAMI (UP)—A four-engine DC7B plowed into a parked Super Constellation on the ground shortly before midnight touching off a fiery explosion which demolished both aircraft and part of Eastern Airlines' terminal here.

Both aircraft, valued at $5,000,000, were owned by Eastern.

The airline reported that there were no passengers involved and the crew of the DC7B escaped without injury. The airline said there was no one aboard the Constellation.

The raging fire within minutes lighted up the hangar area at the

Officers To Fight Burgess' Orders

Two Bristol Borough police officers who claimed Burgess Anthony Niccol forced them to refuse drunken driving charges against two men, today said they would refer the case to state and local officials of the Fraternal Order of Police.

The officers, Alfonso Lancieri and Peter Caro, said they were intimidated into filing the charges by the Burgess, who threatened to suspend the officers.

The officers said they have agreed to file the charges "under duress." "What else could we do. We have to think about our jobs," the men said.

Air Show Set For Twining

WASHINGTON (UP)—The greatest peacetime aerial review in history was assembled today to honor Gen. Nathan F. Twining in ceremonies at nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

Twining's four-year tour as Air Force chief of staff ends tomorrow. He will become chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Aug. 15. He will receive an Oak Leaf Cluster on a Distinguished Service Medal in a ceremony before the aerial review.

The Air Force massed 272 aircraft ranging from old World War I Jennies to the latest in jets to participate in the flyover.

A Jenny was to lead the armada, one of the nation's first flying machines. Next in line were a Spad, a P12, an F51, a B17, a B29, a T37 jet trainer, and a super-sonic F101.

However, they said they had brought the situation to the attention of the Bucks County Chapter of the FOP. Chapter President Harry Smith will confer with Daniel Gorson, legal advisor for the state association tomorrow.

The legal aid committee of the local FOP Chapter will then follow up on the case, depending on what Gorson has to say.

The two officers said they want to see if the Burgess has the right to order the rearrest of the drunken driving suspects.

Respect Decision Lancieri said, "We feel we are being made to do something we don't have to do. We respect the decision handed down by the squire and want to abide by it."

The suspects the Burgess wants rearrested are Joseph P. Ward, 46, of 11 Woodside Ave., Edgely, first arrested September 29, 1956; and Raymond B. Blackman, 48, of 324 Magnolia Road, arrested on March 10.

Charges against both men were dismissed by JP Peter Harkins.

In ordering the rearrest Burgess Niccol said "drunken driving has got to be stopped. Under my administration we have never had any drunken driving cases like these discharged by a justice of the peace in the borough."

High Winds Slam East, Lake Erie

By UNITED PRESS

Hurricane Audrey drew to the end of her deadly procession up from the Gulf of Mexico Friday by spreading her flailing cape over the Eastern Seaboard.

Behind her lay a broken trail of death and isolation. It was too early for an accurate determination on how many persons were killed, but estimates ran in the hundreds.

The gulf coast was not the only area hit by death-dealing weather.

At least five persons were killed in Alabama, Mississippi, and North and South Carolina as Audrey spawned tornadoic tailwinds. Further north, her remnants unleashed record rains in Illinois and Indiana, where at least eight more persons were killed in weather-connected accidents as flash floods brimmed over the banks of the Midwest streams and rivers.

The Midwest, newly emerged from flood threats less than two weeks ago, retrenched itself against the swirling currents that coursed over farmland, battered bridges, contaminated water supplies, and left many towns cut off from contact with other communities.

A state of emergency was declared in Indiana where the National Guard literally put to sea in small craft to carry on rescue operations.

Audrey's remnants left the Midwest and stirred up 60-mile-an-hour winds and severe thunderstorms at Stony Fort and Canton, Pa. The level of Lake Erie rose about three feet within a half-hour.

Almost two inches of rain dropped in a 6-hour period at Youngstown, Ohio, and Erie, Pa. Northeastern New York and northern New England were expected to receive the brunt of scattered thunderstorms forecast for the north Atlantic Coast States today.

Woman Hurt In Collision

A Gettysburg woman suffered a fractured hip in a two-car crash at Route 13 and Beaver St., Bristol Borough, yesterday afternoon.

Eleanor Palmer, 38, was admitted to Lower Bucks County Hospital. She was taken to the hospital by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

She was riding in a car operated by Victor Palmer, 57, also of Gettysburg, when it collided with another vehicle driven by Harold B. Allen, 71, of Tullytown.

Sunny Skies, Cooler Weather For Bucks

Sunny skies with cooler and less humid weather was expected across Pennsylvania today with temperatures ranging from the 70's in western portions to the mid and upper 80's in eastern sections.

Tonight was expected to be fair with temperatures ranging from the low 50's to the upper 60's from west to east across the state.

A deep low pressure system which brought general showers to most of Pennsylvania last night moved out of the state today. It was followed by a cooler drier air mass which was expected to continue fair weather with low temperatures through tomorrow.

Medic Delivers Babes In Storm

LAKE CHARLES, La.—UP—Red Cross officials told today how an unidentified doctor delivered five babies, including a set of twins, in the hurricane-ravaged fishing village of Cameron.

About a thousand persons were jammed in and around the Cameron Courthouse as disaster and death settled down on the tiny village Thursday. Included in the refugees from Hurricane Audrey were several expectant mothers, Red Cross officials said.

Jerry Coron, assistant regional director of the defense for the Red Cross in the Southeast, said he was told a doctor identified only as "Clark" delivered the babies.

Coron said the mothers and children were placed on barges and sent to other south Louisiana cities.

Ike Offers Aid Against Wild 'Audrey'

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower kept fully posted today on the disasters left by Hurricane Audrey.

The President, giving instructions by telephone last night from his Gettysburg farm, threw "every possible federal facility" into rescue-relief operations for Louisiana and other Gulf Coast states struck by the hurricane.

Former Civil Defense Director Val Peterson prepared first-hand reports for Eisenhower on the extent of the damage and the measures being taken to cope with the disasters.

The Chief Executive directed Peterson to fly to the scene last night as his "personal representative" to coordinate relief measures.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty planned to relay Peterson's findings and other reports as they were received at the White House to Eisenhower at a news conference to fill them in on Peterson's report.

NATO Arms Nod Sought

PARIS (UP)—Western disarmament delegates sought approval today from their Atlantic Pact partners for Allied "first step" proposals to end the nuclear weapons race.

U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen and French delegate Jules Moch flew here from London Friday night to present the Allied blueprint to an extraordinary session of the permanent council of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Stassen was reported confident of lining up a solid Western front on disarmament. If he succeeds, he will present the plan to Russia at the five-power United Nations subcommittee meeting in London next week.

Morrisville Boy Hurt Darting Between Cars

A seven-year-old Morrisville boy suffered mouth injuries when he was hit by a car on North Pennsylvania Ave. yesterday. Several of the victim's teeth were knocked loose. He is Arthur Parziale, of 24 Palmer St. According to Morrisville police he darted out between two parked cars and ran into the right rear of an automobile driven by John Doccardo, of 1810 Makefield Road, Yardley. The boy was treated at the office of Dr. Thomas Dougherty.

Louisiana Fishing Town Is Demolished

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP)—Waters of a hurricane-generated tidal wave that almost destroyed the tiny fishing town of Cameron, La., receded slowly today and permitted rescue workers to search for possibly more victims of a disaster that already has claimed 161 lives.

A report from Cameron said the water had fallen back to a point this morning about four miles out of the village. Buses and trucks began carrying the injured and dead to a flooded highway and loaded them on barges for the long voyage to Lake Charles.

Calcasieu Parish Sheriff Henry Reid said 1,000 rescue workers were on hand at Cameron to help in cleanup operations. Officials at Lake Charles planned to send bulldozers on barges to Cameron at dawn.

Although the death toll at Cameron and other communities on the Louisiana coast was fixed at 161, more bodies may be found when bulldozers start scraping up the debris left by Hurricane Audrey, first storm of the season.

Snakes Terrorize Victims

Cameron, a thin string of houses on the Gulf Coast, caught the hardest blow of the second worst hurricane in almost 20 years.

Most of the dead were drowning victims, but others died in a dozen different ways. One, the child of Mrs. Stephen Broussard of Pecan Island, died from the bite of a poisonous snake washed ashore by Audrey.

Mrs. Broussard lost three children by drowning and had to watch the fourth die from the snake's poison because there was no medical help. She was treated for shock in a hospital at Abbeville, La.

Sold Radios

During testimony yesterday, it was pointed out that Dietrich, after stealing the radios, sold them to Marek for $20 each.

Marek installed and sold three of the radios, and Brown allegedly picked up the other three from the service station and sold them.

Six character witnesses, including a minister, testified for Dietrich and Marek.

Red Chinese Won't Get Aid From U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The administration's firm stand against relations with Red China is designed to keep economic pressure on the troubled Peiping regime and help bring about the downfall of Communism on the China mainland, U.S. officials said today.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flatly ruled out any diplomatic recognition, trade or cultural relations with Red China at present in a San Francisco speech Friday. He indicated American relations with the 600 million people on the Chinese mainland would be resumed only after the downfall of Communism.

Branding Communism a "passing phase," Dulles said the United States owes it to itself, its allies and the Chinese people "to do all that we can to contribute to that passing."

Diplomatic authorities said Dulles believes one of the most effective means of working toward the eclipse of Communism in China is to maintain all kinds of pressure on the Peiping regime — economic, diplomatic and cultural. That is the aim of his hard "no recognition" policy toward Communist China.

Sends Representative

President Eisenhower, keeping in touch with rescue operations, dispatched former Civil Defense Director Val Peterson to Cameron to get first-hand reports of the disaster.

Eisenhower ordered Peterson to the scene as his "personal representative" to coordinate relief measures.

The President also threw "every possible federal facility" into rescue-relief operations.

Sheriff O. B. Carter of Cameron said "4,000 people were in the area before the hurricane struck but 15 per cent were evacuated."

"There are about 1,800 people in Cameron and outlying areas," Carter said. "At least 300 to 400 are stranded by high water and food and water has been sent to tide them over until help can reach them."

He also pointed out that even the zoning board did not say the operation was noxious or hazardous.

Caplan contended in his appeal that Alfred Rigby, township zoning officer, told him before he bought the property that the operation was within the zoning classification.

Two Are Sentenced On Driving Charges

Robert Leary, Dixon and Beacon Aves., Croydon, was fined $50 yesterday after pleading guilty to driving a car with a suspended license.

A prison term of 30 days was dated back to May 14, when he was committed, making him eligible for release.

Another man, Charles E. Jones, 33, of Philadelphia, also was sentenced to 30 days on the same charge. The sentence dates back to May 31, when he was committed to county prison to await trial.

Leary was arrested May 11 on Newport Road, by Bristol township police.

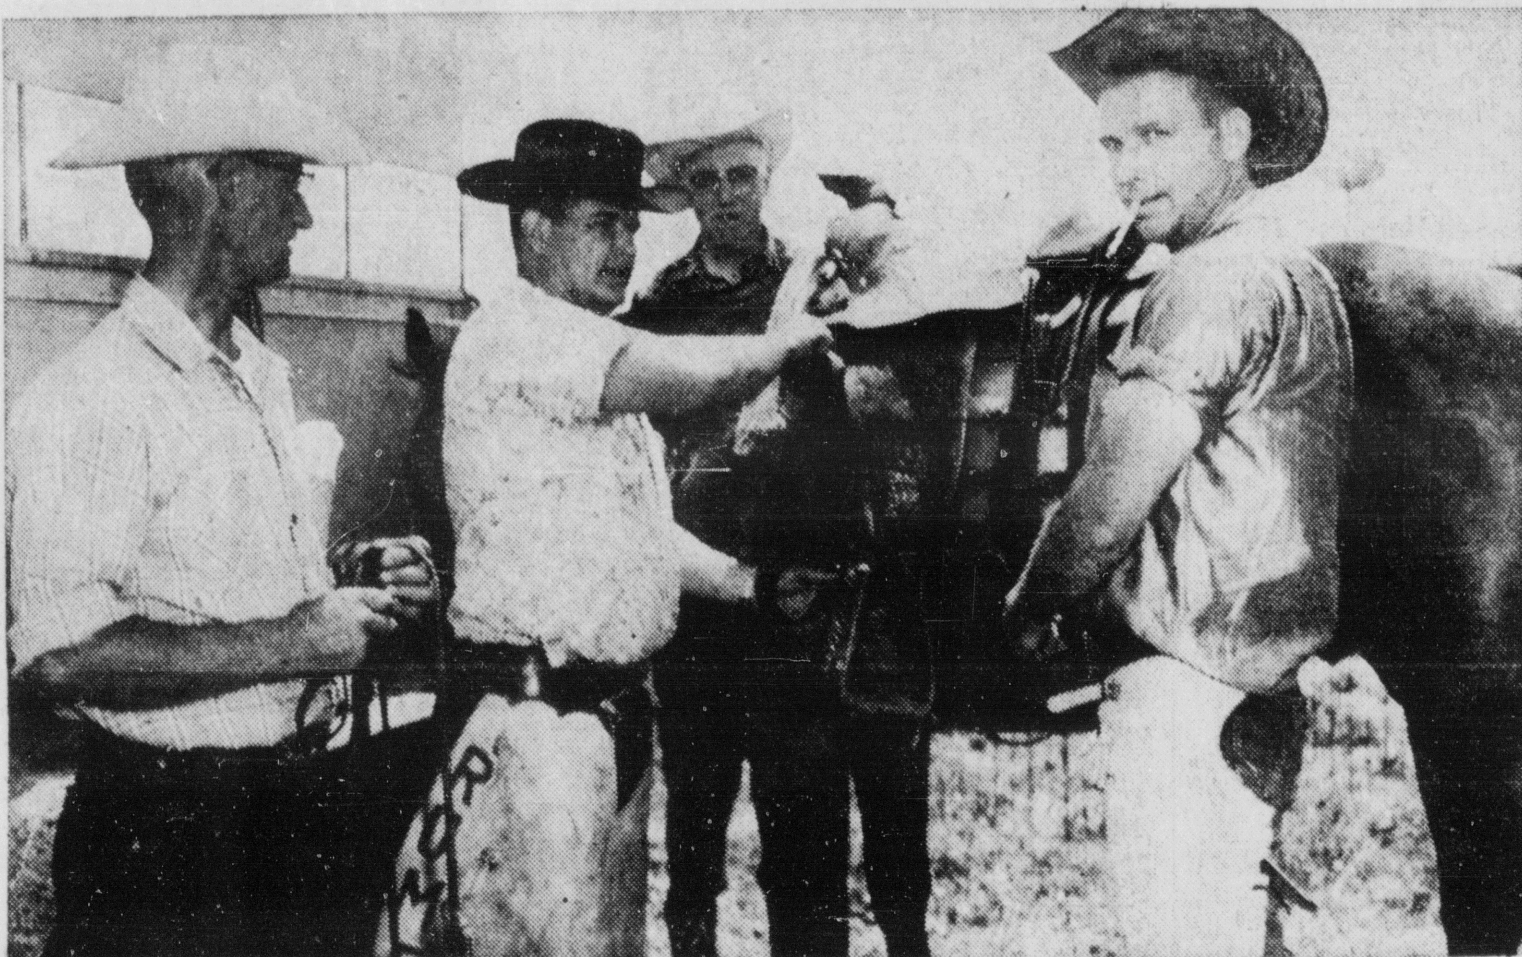

Jones was arrested May 31 on Bustleton Pike, Lower Southampton, after he was stopped for a minor traffic violation.

Nickerson's Boss To Give Testimonial

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP) — Col. John C. Nickerson's boss is expected to tell a court martial today whether, if given the chance, he would take back the colonel as his missiles trouble-shooter.

After the testimony of Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, the controversial court-martial of Nickerson for releasing rocket secrets should head for a fast wind-up—possibly late today.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, the secretaries for Army and Air and the Pentagon in general, not to mention the aircraft industry, all got down in the testimony.

But not until the 10 - member court abruptly decided to call Medaris to be present for a two-star finale did the trial physically bring in top brass, military or civilian.

Medaris is commander of the Army Ballistics Missile Agency here at Redstone Arsenal where the trial is being held. Much of the defense "mitigating circumstances" testimony conducted by special counsel Ray H. Jenkins has dealt with whether Medaris shared Nickerson's feelings over a Wilson decision giving the nod to the Air Force in intermediate missiles.

The obvious reason for calling Medaris was for the court to hear straight from him if he felt the colonel would be of future use if he stays in uniform and out of jail. The penalty conceivably could run up to 30 years at hard labor, dismissal, forfeiture of pay and allowances and fines.

Mill Street Lists 3 Developments

Three new developments in that catch the fleeting expression of the increasing progress of the famed shopping street, were announced today.

A 37-year old photography studio changed hands, a clothing store in the same family for 52 years announced a large expansion and a hardware store held its grand opening in new quarters 50 per cent larger than its previous location on Mill Street.

Oldest Photo
George Miller has purchased the oldest photo studio in Bucks County, which was founded by W. B. Nichols.

Mr. Miller, who came to Lower Bucks County from Philadelphia said he chose Bristol for his studio because "I found it to be one of the friendliest shopping centers I've seen everywhere. When I saw merchants enlarging their store and improving their properties here," Mr. Miller said, "I said this is the progressive spot that speaks for me."

Though only 25 years old, Mr. Miller has been associated with commercial photography since he was 12. He has won many honors in this field, and always interested himself in quality. Many of his pictures have been published in national magazines.

Mr. Miller has been No. 1 photographer at Lyndelle Studios, Philadelphia. His new studio, at 325 Mill Street, is completely air conditioned.

The photographer is unmarred. In 1952 he was in the U.S. Army Intelligence Corps.

The Mill Street studio is equipped with multiple ascortrobe lights, enabling the photographer to make one one-thousandth of a second exposures

Bucks Rodeo In Spotlight At Speedway

R Day has arrived; after months of preparation, the Bucks County World Championship Rodeo, to be held at the Langhorne Speedway, commences today and lasts through tomorrow, rain or shine, with both matinee and evening performances scheduled at 2 and 8:15 p.m.

Starring James Arness — better known to millions of TV fans as Marshal Matt Dillon, of CBS "Gunsmoke" — the show is calculated to last more than three hours, including five competitive events and over 15 individual acts. Specialty acts include the lighting lariatists of Barbara Autry, world champion trick rider, and Leonard Hampton, exhibiting the style of roping developed by cowboy star Tom Mix. The famous dog-and-gun act of Joe Phillips will be featured, as will the unusual spectacle of Chief White Eagle's Indian troupe performing the Eagle Dance of the Southwest Pueblos, the Feast Dance of the Sioux, the Snake Dance of the Winnebago, the Buffalo Dance of the Zuni and the Green Corn Dance of the Oneida. Bobby Ruiz, one of the rodeo's outstanding clowns and bullfighters, will offer laughs to the spectators and daring assistance to fallen, Brahma-riding cowboys. Other specialty acts will include trick riders, trick horses, gun acts, and western music.

Arness, who is making his first major appearance here in the East, arrived at the Philadelphia International Airport at 10:30 a.m. this morning, where he was met by Sammy Davis, Jr., (currently appearing at the Latin Casino), Queen of the Rodeo Helen Persely, a 19-year-old Fairless Hills beauty, 'Uncle Pete' Boyle, and many others. A motorcade bearing this group, flanked by cowboys and Indians, arrives at the Speedway at 2 p.m. opening the first show.

Planned as the first of a continuing series of annual championship rodeos, this year's show is being sponsored by Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, the Rev. Paul Shogan, pastor.

Bristol Couple Beam Over First Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Kochera, of 315 Jackson Street, Bristol, are parents of a boy, George, Jr., born yesterday at Lower Bucks County Hospital. The baby weighed six and three-quarters pounds.

Mr. Kochera is cashier of the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times. He formerly lived in Arlington, Va. The mother, the former Cecelia Scheetz, was graduated from Bristol High School in the class of 1949.

Man Gets 4 Months On Morals Charge

Donald J. Morgan, 28, of 131 Lebbie Lane, Fairless Hills, yesterday was sentenced to four months in Bucks County Prison after pleading guilty to a sodomy charge.

Morgan was arrested May 29 by Falls township police, who caught him and a 17-year-old boy in a parked car.

Indian Creek Meeting Set For Tuesday

The Levittown Public Recreation Association has set up a committee which will examine all of the facts and report to the Board of Trustees on the recently discontinued Indian Creek Pool dances sponsored by Ed Loewe, it was announced today.

At a meeting this week, the LPRA Board named one of its trustees, David Melnick, chairman of the committee which has invited Mr. Loewe to attend a meeting next Tuesday night.

Earlier this week Mr. Loewe had charged the LPRA with unnecessary delay in resuming the dances and "giving the kids the runaround."

The dances, according to Richard L. Gersuo, director of LPRA, had been closed after numerous complaints had been received regarding "inadequate chaperonage and the conduct of the dances." In addition, the board charged Loewe with collecting admission in direct violation of LPRA policy.

Mr. Loewe, who has been seeking a reversal of the cancellation ruling, had asked for a hearing in order to show that the money he received was turned over to the Babe Ruth League.

In explanation of the LPRA's action in cancelling the dances, Dick Gersuo, executive director of the organization, issued the following statement:

"There has been a good deal of misunderstanding about the use of LPRA facilities for neighborhood dances. The LPRA has always been in favor of teenage dances and has always cooperated with all community organizations interested in helping to meet the recreational needs of young people.

"We have had numerous complaints about the conduct of these dances. One resident, the mother of three teen-age daughters, wrote that she considered the dances in question a "disgrace," and that she would not allow her children to attend. The allegations of irresponsible and inadequate supervision were investigated and verified by a member of the Board who attended and observed one of the dances.

"There is, in addition, the matter of admission charges or 'dues' having been levied, a direct violation of LPRA policy on use of facilities.

Community Support
"The LPRA believes in community support of youth activities and not in private exploitation of them. I believe the Board of Trustees would be delinquent in its moral obligations to the people of Levittown if it had failed to act in this matter or if it should ever fail to carry out its stated policy."

To help provide for the recreation needs of teenagers, the LPRA reported the formation of a Community Program Committee. The Committee is made up of representatives of the Levittown Civic Association, the Cobalt Ridge Civic Association and women's clubs. Sidney Charles is chairman.

The Committee will hold the first teen dance on Wednesday evening, July 3, at Indian Creek Park. The second is scheduled for Saturday evening, July 6, at the Country Club Park. Dances will be held on a regular schedule which will be announced next week.

Photograph records, sound amplification system and chaperonage is to be provided by the Committee.

John Petruccio Is Given Parole

John Petruccio, 46, of 1023 Garden St., Bristol, was paroled from Bucks County Prison yesterday after serving the minimum term of a three months to a year sentence for gambling.

Petruccio, who was also fined $200, was sentenced for setting up a gambling house at 1432 Beaver St., Bristol.

He and another man, Charles Denny, 601 Pond St., Bristol, were arrested in a raid Dec. 22 by State Police. Denny was given a suspended sentence.
